📅 Date: May 9, 2024

🕒 Time: 14:30 – 16:00

📍 Location: University of Applied Sciences "Lavoslav Ružička" in Vukovar

As part of the VEVU International Week, our polytechnic hosted the VEVU International Partner HEI Fair, an event that brought together representatives of 15 international higher education institutions. The fair aimed to provide students and staff of the host institution with a unique opportunity to explore mobility and international collaboration options.

Adding to the significance of the event was the participation of 34 incoming students from 7 partner higher education institutions, who attended as part of the BIP program. This interactive event offered:

- ✔ Detailed information for students and staff interested in mobility opportunities.
- ✔ Networking opportunities for all VEVU International Week participants and experience sharing.
- ✔ Encouragement and inspiration for students to engage in international mobility through motivational stories and best practices.

The VEVU International Partner HEI Fair was not just a chance to gather information but also to broaden horizons, connect with peers from other countries, and develop both professional and personal skills.

💡 Thank you to all participants for making this event a successful and inspiring experience!

The future lies in international collaboration – join us and be part of it! 🌐
